

NATIVE AMERICAN CONNECTIONS

January 26, 2011

To Whom It May Concern,

Native American Connections is pleased to collaborate with Future for KIDS who provide free, weekly after school programs that focuses on healthy lifestyle, fitness and educational activities for at-risk youth that live in our low income housing communities.

We hope to continue and grow our partnership to include additional NAC housing complexes where children live and are in desperate need of quality programming. The Native American Community also will benefit from Future for KIDS Youth Sports and Fitness Camps held throughout the year, where families and children come together to be active, learn and have fun. Providing programs that help build strong, healthy children and families is a common goal that the two organizations share.

Future for KIDS mission aligns with the outreach programs we seek to provide to our young and impressionable youth. Their program focuses on academics, athletics and ethics through a fun, mentor infused program. Families in our community are dealing with many social issues and knowing that their children are safe and participating in a quality program is important. Keeping kids off the streets and engaged in positive activities during the vulnerable after school hours is proven to have a positive impact on youth.

We seek to continue and grow our relationship with Future for KIDS and look forward to a strong relationship that will continue to provide a greater number of children in the NAC communities valuable programs.
