

MEDIA ALERT / REQUEST FOR COVERAGE

Innovative Gym, Where “Everyone Knows Your Name,” Opens Jan. 17 with D-Backs Closer Addison Reed

FieldFit, Owned and Staffed by Former Pro Athletes, Delivers Intensive, 30-Minute Workouts in a Close-Knit Environment

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz., Jan. 15, 2015 – FieldFit, a new fitness center geared toward time-starved Arizonans, hosts its Grand Opening, 10 a.m. – 4 p.m. Jan. 17, 2015, at Paradise Plaza, 4848 E. Cactus Road, Scottsdale. Arizona Diamondbacks closer Addison Reed will sign autographs from 10 a.m. – 1 p.m.

The brainchild of Scottsdale resident and former pro baseball player Ryan Buch, FieldFit features a nine-station, 30-minute workout guided by professional athletes-turned-trainers, and geared toward maximum benefit with low risk of injury. During the grand opening, a portion of first months’ dues will benefit Future for Kids, a Scottsdale nonprofit that mentors area youths in sports, academics and character-building.

Come speak with a local athlete/entrepreneur on his plans to shake-up the local fitness scene with a bold concept combining speed, results and an atmosphere conducive to lasting friendships. Grand Opening is also a great opportunity to check out the newest design from acclaimed gym architect Cuoco Black, and catch up with a D-Backs star during the off-season as he greets smiling fans.

Who: Ryan Buch, former pro baseball pitcher-turned-entrepreneur, and current Diamondbacks closer Addison Reed

What: Grand Opening celebration for FieldFit, with gym tours, autographs, and healthy refreshments

When: Saturday, Jan. 17, 2015, 10 a.m. – 4 p.m.
Addison Reed greets fans: 10 a.m. – 1 p.m.

Where: FieldFit, Paradise Plaza, 4848 E. Cactus Road, Scottsdale, AZ
623-218-7181

Contact: Gary Frisch, Swordfish Communications 856-767-7772 /
gfrisch@swordfishcomm.com

On Site Contact: Steve Buch, FieldFit 267-981-6347 (cell)